Subject: Cases of sexual abuse of children are increasing each year. It reflects the problem that sexual abuse prevention and related education are not implemented enough, and children's right to survival and development are violated.

Current Situation:

Sexual assault cases in our country remain high and increase every year. Sixty-five percent of the victims of sexual assault cases are children under the age of 18, and most of the suspects are those between the ages of 12 and 18. The results are the violation of children's right to survival and development

Problem Analysis:

According to the Ministry of Health and Welfare, the number of sexual assault cases in our country remains high and is increasing year by year. In 2019, there were 8,160 cases of sexual assault, and in 2020, the number rose to 9,212, with an increase of more than 1,000 cases of sexual assault in one year. The number of juvenile victims is the largest, more than 50% of the total number of victims, and the victims under the age of 18 account for 65% of the total number (Annex 1). In addition, the age group with the largest number of suspects is 12 to 18 years old, accounting for 26% (Annex II) In this case, one out of every four suspects in sexual assault cases is a 12 to 18-year-old juvenile.

In my country, the gender mainstreaming policy has been implemented for more than 20 years and gender equality education for more than 15 years; however, the number of sexual assault cases not only remains high but increases year by year. Minors are the group with the largest number of victims of sexual assault cases (65%), and 26% are underage suspects. The current gender mainstreaming policies and the major deficiencies in gender equality education lead to failure in helping children maintain their physical autonomy, to improve their knowledge and skills of self-protection, and to enhance their respect for others' physical autonomy.

Specific recommendations:

1. The Executive Yuan shall review the biases and deficiencies of the gender mainstreaming policy, plainly put forward countermeasures for excessive sexual assault cases increasing every year, and list the effective plans coming from each competent authority.

2. The Ministry of Education shall thoroughly review the deficiency of gender equality education; currently it focuses less on issues like the education of sexual assault prevention, how to tackle the problems of excessive proliferation of pornographic information saturated in the media. It shall clearly display the specific steps to address such issues and establish a review mechanism to ensure that every student can receive "sexual assault prevention education" in all grades and semesters.
